

What's that you're excited? Wow are you graduating or something?

I'm graduating. I know. It's, it's been a long road. It's been a long road. We're going to miss you. But you'll be back. Yeah, definitely.

[Music]

[Applause]

[Music]

How are you guys feeling? Excellent. Excellent.

[Applause]

[Music]

I'm feeling great. Graduating today. Yeah, we made it. I'm pretty excited for all this, event, and graduated with my classmates and sharing this important moment in my life with my family.

[Music]

We are feeling very proud.

[Music]

I'm feeling very well thank you it's a real nice feeling graduating from Cornell it's always a nice feeling to graduate.

All right, I just wanted to welcome everyone here today and offer you a good afternoon, the graduates of 2017, their families, parents, friends, of the graduates the faculty and staff and also current students.

Nice job, Gustavo.

We present to you the 2017 graduates of doctor philosophy and Master of Science.

Everyone's graduating. The office is going to be kind of empty though.

Recipient of the masters of engineering degree

Osama Bukhamseen

[Music]

Our M.Eng. graduates

[Music]

We love you Mamadou. I love you too.

Congratulations!

[Applause]

Awesome. I don't know what to say. Speechless.

Once again offer congratulations to our wonderful graduates of 2017. Thank you so much.

[Applause]